This statement was made this afternoon by John MacDougall, general manager of the American Colonization company, of New Jersey, which controls 500,000 acres in Mexico.

WELCOME GIVEN CHINESE MISSIONARY

A pleasant event occurred on Monday evening in the newly opened Chinese mission on Durick avenue, when Rev. and Mrs. Chow Ling, missionaries in charge, together with Chinese friends, were hosts to friends of both United church congregations.

Mr. Lee Loucks, who acted as chairman, together with Miss On Young, brought the greetings of the Chinese community, to which Mr. and Mrs. Chow replied fittingly, the latter's words being interpreted by Miss Alice Man.

The good wishes of the United church were then brought in brief addresses by Rev. R. W. Harby, Mrs. Macfarlane and Messrs. Moir and Morton.

A pleasant social hour followed, during which a delightful lunch was served by Mrs. Chow, assisted by the young people of the mission.

Mr. Chow's work, centering at Cranbrook, includes the pastoral supervision of the Chinese communities from Crows' Nest to Grand Forks.—Cranbrook Tribune.

COMMONSENSE RULES ALL THAT IS NECESSARY TO AVOID ACCIDENTS

Stop, look and listen at railroad crossings.

Pass on the straight road, not on a curve.

Keep to the right side of the highway; don't be a "road hog."

Don't cut in and out of traffic unless there is plenty of leeway.

When accosted by an officer be considerate; don't put up an argument.

Don't stop on a hill or on a curve.

When stopping, pull off the highway if at all possible.

Slow down when another car gives the signal to pass; don't step on the gas and try to keep him from getting by.

Always give a signal when intending to stop or when pulling out into the line of traffic from a parking place.

Always be on the lookout for children, and for adults as well, who dart out from behind a parked car, or who suddenly step off the curb.

Keep eyes open at all times to traffic signals and obey them to the letter.

Don't travel at an excessive rate of speed at any time, and, on the other hand, don't "hearse" drive. Exceedingly slow driving on main highways is as dangerous as speeding.

F. J. Bielly, of the Fernie teaching staff, has been chosen principal of the Forestburg, Alberta, school.

COLE'S THEATRE INSTALLS NEW SOUND EQUIPMENT

The management of Cole's theatre, Bellevue, announces the installation of new sound equipment, which should be completed for the Saturday showing of "Emma." This equipment will give Mr. Cole a still greater choice of film entertainment to select from, including the most outstanding British production.

Watch for next week end program, it will be worth your while.

Marie Dressler, who plays the title role in "Emma," showing at Cole's theatre for the next three days, was born in Colourg, Canada, and won fame on the New York stage, where she reigned as a star comedienne for years. She entered pictures in "Tillie's Punctured Romance." Among her notable vehicles are "Politics," "Min and Bill," "Reducing," "Caught Short," "Let Us Be Gay" and "Anna Christie."

Adult audiences asked us to give Jackie Cooper, the boy star, a picture for adults, too! Not in all the history of motion pictures has there appeared a boy star with the genius of Jackie Cooper! You've seen him in pictures with a distinct appeal to the younger people. He has been remarkable. Now you will see him in a picture which has a dramatic message for adults as well as young folks. His trials, his joys, his laughs are all of our own—as we know them in life. And his superb victory over odds is our victory.

The combination of Jackie Cooper and "Chic" Sale in one picture was an inspiration! "When a Feller Needs a Friend," is a real picture. See it at Cole's theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

After fifteen months, during which time the mines in Southern Alberta and Eastern B.C. have been either idle altogether or working half-time, a new condition, more like the old times when coal mining was the main industry in this coal field, has arisen, and, beginning this month, every mine throughout the whole region will begin to work full time, while many of them will put on more men than ever before.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

THE GREATER HIERARCHY
Why chafe against the moneyed class coming into their possessions by inheritance, or rile against the succession of Kings. We have constituted society on wider democratic principles, yet we allow half a dozen men to own and control a large proportion of the wealth of the nation, and the captains of industry and commerce to control the destiny of more human lives than the ancient Feudal Lords.—The Spokesman.

THE GREATER HIERARCHY

The first of a series of banquets to be held by the Blaimore Board of Trade takes place at the Cosmopolitan hotel this evening at 7 o'clock.

The resignation of Sir Henry Thornton as president of the Canadian National Railways has been accepted. Vice-president S. J. Hungerford is acting as president temporarily.

Back about forty years ago, the term "boo" was applied by mothers when searching for vermin in children's heads. Murphy, as the father of the term as used by children of foreign parentage in the Crows' Nest Pass, has evidently advanced no further from childhood than to have the term on the tip of his tongue today. There never was anything sillier, except the idea, also of Murphy's tribe, of using children and women to make utterances at public gatherings that are absolutely unbecomingly peace-loving beings.

FOR THE FREER INTERCHANGE OF OUR PRODUCTS

Victoria, B.C.—The empire "down under" giving its forces up to Canada determined that Ottawa shall see the foundation of a greater commercial commonwealth, prosperous within itself and leading the rest of the world back to economic re-establishment.

"It is unthinkable that it should fail," declared Rt. Hon. Stanley M. Bruce of the Australian delegation, concerning the imperial conference.

"The immediate question is whether our empire can, by agreement, reverse the trend and set us moving instead in the direction of the freer interchange of our products," said Rt. Hon. J. G. Coates of New Zealand.

Declaring development of intra-empire trade the immediate objective, Hon. H. S. Guller, Australian Minister of Trade and Customs said: "The improvement of trade is one means towards the greater objective, which is to increase empire production, to stimulate every kind of empire enterprise, to provide more employment and as prosperity comes back to the world, to bring about a more economic distribution of the empire's white people."

"At this stage our chief joy and satisfaction is being on Canadian soil and meeting Canadian friends," said Hon. Dowling Stewart, Minister of Finance and Customs, who in the war, saved the financial destinies of New Zealand from an invalid's chair.

Hon. A. W. Seymour, colonial secretary, arrived with the party, to represent the Fiji Islands.

Forest Ranger Murdered

Assaultants Kill Government Official and Also Wound His Wife

Rosburgh, Man.—Lawrence Lees, young Dominion forest ranger, is dead, and his pretty bride of five weeks lies in Clear Lake hospital tonight as the result of a murderous raid on a forestry station in Riding Mountain forest reserve 14 miles north of here.

The ranger was murdered when unidentified assailants fired through the window of the station, the shot piercing his neck.

A few minutes later the slayers entered the cabin as Mrs. Lees was telephoning police officials. They rushed about her down, the bullet striking the back of her neck.

Taking Supplies To Northern Trading Posts

Pilot Buchanan, Veteran Aviator Making Trip Into Barren

Churchill, Man.—Taking off from the harbor here, Pilot W. J. Buchanan, a veteran northern aviator, headed northwest into Windy Lake regions with supplies for the trading posts on the barrens. He is flying a Junkers low-wing monoplane of the Canadian Airways. The craft has a 100-hp. capacity and a speed of 100 miles an hour. Pilot Buchanan was accompanied by Dave Glenn and Tom Gilmore, mechanics.

Bracken Elected

The Pas.—Premier John Bracken was returned as the representative of The Pas in the Manitoba legislature on the basis of incomplete returns, and with four polls reported in Rupert's Land. Only small scattered polls in the northland hinterland remain unreported and the results in them cannot overcome Mr. Bracken's lead.

Will Not Affect Canada

Ottawa, Ont.—The decision of the Norwegian government to occupy a strip of territory in Greenland is regarded only with academic interest here. The matter does not affect Canada, nor has it any bearing on Canada's sovereignty over the islands of the eastern Arctic. Greenland has always been regarded by the Canadian government as Danish territory.

Unemployment Problem

Vancouver, B.C.—Taking exception to the British Columbia Government's proposed new direct relief plans, the executive of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities meeting here, decided to apply direct to Ottawa for a federal representative to study the unemployment relief problems of the province.

Duty On Free State Goods

Canada Stands To Benefit From Imposition Of New Levies

London, England.—The British Government has carried out its threat to levy fresh duties on goods from the Irish Free State. The revenue from the new duties will recoup the British treasury for the losses consequent on the Free State's default of land annuities.

The government's special measure passed by parliament gives the government the power to levy up to 100 per cent. ad valorem on Free State goods.

The Irish Free State commodities on which the new duties apply are principally livestock, poultry and game; butter, eggs and cream; bacon and pork.

There were reports the Canadian livestock trade in particular was already experiencing some benefit from the setback for the Irish exporters.

Need Of Action

Want No Prolonged Preliminary Palsy At Conference

London, England.—Touring western Canada at the present time, Lord Rothmere, English newspaper magnate, is losing no opportunities to stress the importance of the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa.

His Daily Mail will feature a cable sent by Lord Rothmere from Calgary with the caption "Ottawa Must Dare and Do." He declares the empire "wants action."

"If the delegates engage in prolonged preliminary palsy the conference will be choked in its own verbiage," Lord Rothmere says.

He declares that Canada can purchase within the empire £500,000 worth of goods annually that she is now getting from outside the empire.

Ban On Saloon

Proposal Of U.S. Senator For Repeal Of 18th Amendment

Washington.—A resolution proposing a new constitutional amendment, repealing the 18th amendment but retaining the saloon, was introduced in the United States senate by Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, for years one of the leading supporters of prohibition.

Senator Glass asked for immediate consideration of his resolution, but this was blocked by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska.

The constitutional amendment proposed by the Virginian would allow states that want liquor to have it, but would keep the saloon unconstitutional. It also would prohibit transportation of liquor into states where it was forbidden.

Americans Hoard Cash

Stated That Billions Of Dollars Withdrawn From Circulation

University, Va.—Five hundred million dollars in "centuries and grand" has been withdrawn from circulation in the United States by members of the underworld since Al Capone was arrested, and the seamy investigation was started, Robert Warren, economist, told the Virginia Institute of Public Affairs.

He estimated that Americans are hoarding $5,000,000,000 cash. This was withdrawn mostly in hundred, thousand and ten-thousand-dollar bills.

Plan Another Flight

Round The World Flyers May Make Second Attempt

Oklahoma City.—The possibility arises that Bennett Griffin and Jimmie Mattern, whose trip ended in a Russian post bag, may step off the boat and into another plane for a second attempt when they come back from Europe.

Efforts to have the second plane available in New York are being made by Clarence Page, the flyers' business manager, Page said.

Subscriptions For Peace Park

Dunsmuir, N.D.—Canada and U.S. clasped hands on the international boundary in Turtle Mountain Peace Park to commemorate the long friendship of their peoples. A $500,000 fund is planned for it. Subscriptions of from five to 10 cents will be asked of Canadian and United States school children.

Elected President

Chicago.—Charles H. Swift has been elected president of Swift International, succeeding Edward P. Swift, deceased. The action was taken at a meeting of the Board of Directors in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Alden H. Swift was made vice-president.

Rumor Not Confirmed

No Declaration Regarding a Session Of Parliament In October

Ottawa, Ont.—Confirmation of the statement attributed to Dr. W. D. D. Cowan, (Cons., Long Lake), that a session of parliament would be called in October could not be secured here. The last word in that respect was the statement made by the Prime Minister in reply to a question by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King in the House of Commons two days prior to prorogation.

Declaring he would regard it as his duty to communicate to the House any conclusion arrived at by the Imperial Conference, Mr. Bennett said he was not in a position to make any statement regarding the re-assembling of parliament until after the conference had concluded its labors.

Was Ahead Of Schedule

First Inbound Ship Reaches Churchill Loaded With Freight

Churchill.—The first inbound freight of the season arrived here July 12, when the motor sailing vessel "Fort Severn," arrived with furs from York Factory, Severn and Trout Lake. The ship is owned by the Hudson's Bay Company, Capt. O. Morris in command. Although heavy ice packs were encountered the schooner was not bothered, and arrived here two days ahead of schedule.

The ship loaded at midnight with supplies for far north outposts: "Ocean Eagle," government trawler, is on ice patrol north of the harbor.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE HAVE REACHED ACCORD

London, England.—Great Britain and France have agreed that in the future they will exchange views with complete candor on matters similar to those settled at the Lausanne Conference, Sir John Simon, secretary of state for foreign affairs, announced in the House of Commons.

First of all, he said, they will co-operate in laying out the ground for a world economic conference.

Then and thereafter they will keep each other mutually informed on any questions coming to their notice which may affect Europe as a whole. "It is to be hoped," said Sir John, "that other governments will join us in adopting this procedure."

Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, surprised the House of Commons and the country with this announcement in the House.

He emphasized this agreement had no connection whatever with relations between France and the United States or between Britain and the United States, specifically in respect to the war debts owed to America.

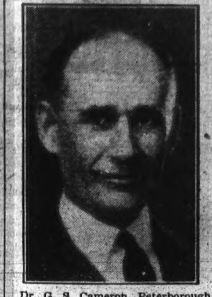

He thus made clear the accord was not to be confused with the "gentlemen's agreement" signed by Britain, France and Italy at Lausanne which will hold the Lausanne reparations settlement in abeyance until the United States has been heard from on the question of war debts revision.

REACHES HIS 90th MILESTONE

This most recent photo of John D. Rockefeller, founder of one of the greatest fortunes in United States industrial history, shows the aged oil king as he appeared with the Rev. J. H. Darling, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Lakeswood, N.J., when he attended service there recently. John D. looks spry and active despite the fact that on July 8th he passed his 90th milestone.

ON CANCER COMMITTEE

Dr. G. B. Cameron, Peterborough, Ont., who is a member of the Advisory Committee on Cancer appointed recently to confer with the Ontario Government on any problem it considers should be brought to the attention of the legislative authorities.

Peter Heenan At The Throttle

Again Takes Charge As Engineer Of C.P.R. Train

Kenora, Ont.—Employees at the Kenora Canadian Pacific Railway shops saw a familiar figure in an old role recently, when Hon. Peter Heenan, M.P., who was Minister of Labor in the Liberal Government of Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, mounted the cab of No. 2 train to take charge as engineer from Kenora to Ignace.

Thirty years ago Peter Heenan first took up the throttle here as an engineer and this was only interrupted when he entered the political arena, first in the Ontario legislature and later in the Dominion Parliament when he joined the cabinet as Minister of Labor.

Now he returns to harness after a long absence, and nobody, not even Peter Heenan himself, appears excited about it. It is just all in the day's work.

Soviet Acreage Is Far Below Estimate

Nearly Million Acres Less Under Cultivation This Year

Moscow, U.S.S.R.—Soviet Russia has wound up the spring sowing campaign with nearly 1,000,000 acres less than last year under cultivation. The total is nearly 15,000,000 acres below the programme.

Official figures place the total area sown on July 1 at 241,000,500, last year and 255,875,000 planned. Failure to come up to the expectations was attributed largely to the poor showing of the Ukraine where a bad drought last year caused great loss of crops and seed.

Seaplane Sinks

London, England.—A Royal Air Force seaplane with a crew of eight sank in the Irish Channel off Lorne, Antrim. Six of the crew were saved by the steamer "Nicoand," the two other members of the crew landing safely later on the Antrim coast, having paddled ashore in a rubber boat.

Barter Agreement

Suggestion Made That Coal Vessels From Britain Will Take Back Wheat Cargoes

London, England.—The familiar suggestion that a barter agreement should be arranged between Britain and Canada so that British vessels taking British coal to Canada would secure a cargo of Canadian wheat was again made in the House of Commons by Mrs. Ida Copeland, Conservative.

L. Hore-Belisha, parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade, said the suggestion was not practical. He had no information in regard to the nationality of the vessels in which either wheat or the 1,033,000 tons of British coal exported to Canada in the 12 months ended May 31 last, was carried, he said.

Mrs. Copeland asserted that most of the 30,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat brought to Britain in the period mentioned were carried in foreign vessels.

Back To Land Plans

Saskatoon Expects To Effect Big Saving In Relief Costs

Saskatoon, Sask.—Archie Wilson, chairman of the committee in connection with the farm settlement scheme, reported to city council that a monthly saving in relief cost of $4,770.40 would be made, provided the 1,386 applications receive the indemnation of the provincial government. Of the applications made 211 were British by birth, 28 naturalized Americans, 6 naturalized Americans, 33 foreign naturalized and 34 foreign un-naturalized.

Mr. Wilson in his report recommended that the regular sittings to interview applicants be discontinued.

New Alberta Loan

Provincial Issue Steadily Gaining Favourable British Market

Edmonton, Alberta.—Closing quotations on Alberta Government bonds recorded on the London stock exchange, is taken as evidence here that the provincial issue is steadily gaining prestige in the British market. When the issue was first floated it received a cool reception.

"News of the gain received by the Alberta government bonds is very gratifying indeed," Hon. R. G. Reid, provincial treasurer, told the Canadian Press here.

ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY PLAN IS APPROVED

Ottawa, Ont.—Canada and United States have agreed on final terms for construction of the St. Lawrence deep waterway scheme. Simultaneously this announcement was made in Ottawa and Washington. Preparation of the treaty is under way and the document will be executed at an early date.

The United States Congress and Senate will probably give its official approval of the agreement before work is started. The Canadian parliament likewise will have to approve the treaty.

Long anticipated, the official announcement broke simultaneously in Ottawa and Washington. In the whole game of world engineering the project will be second only to the Panama Canal. Described officially as a means of improving and cheapening transport to a large part of the North American continent, carrying out of the project will enable vessels now commonly plying on the Great Lakes to reach the sea. Alternately, ocean vessels will be able to penetrate the continent to the head of the Great Lakes.

Combined with great navigational facilities will be a very substantial power development. More than 5,000,000 horse power of electrical energy will be made available. Of this total, 2,200,000 horse power will be generated in the international section. Ontario will have the use of 1,100,000. The United States under the boundary waters treaty, will have the remaining 1,100,000 horse power. In the national or purely Canadian section, lying in Quebec province, 3,000,000 horse power will ultimately be developed. The Beauharnois power project, 30 miles from Montreal, will be utilized in the national section.

Thus—400 years after its discovery by Jacques Cartier—the St. Lawrence River by international action may go far towards revolutionizing transportation in Canada. Again, there will be the industrial activity contingent on the water power development.

SETTLEMENT OF EUROPEAN DEBTS MUST BE MADE

Paris, France.—The French foreign office has published the text of the "gentlemen's agreement," by which the principal powers concerned in the treaty of Lausanne agreed not to ratify that treaty until each had obtained a satisfactory settlement of its own debts.

The agreement was initiated by Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium. It also provides that the Lausanne accords shall not definitely go into force until they have been ratified as provided in the treaties themselves.

When a satisfactory arrangement has been made concerning their own debts, the gentlemen's agreement provided, the initiating governments will ratify the general accords with Germany and these will become effective. If it is found impossible to obtain a debt settlement, it was agreed, the accords with Germany will not be ratified.

The foreign office also published the text of a letter received by Louis Germain-Martin Minister of Finance from the British Chamberlain, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, indicating that Great Britain agrees to the suspension of payment of France of her war debt annuities until the Lausanne accord goes into force or until it has been decided not to ratify it.

The Union Jack

Question Of A Distinctive Canadian Flag Is Raised

Ottawa.—Under present regulations, the Union Jack is the flag of Canada on land and the Red Ensign on sea. This was the statement from the state department, when informed of remarks attributed to Col. W. H. Price, Ontario Attorney-General, on the need for a distinctive Canadian flag.

For years there had been advocacy of a new flag for Canada, said Hon. C. E. Cahane, secretary of state, but nothing new had developed recently as far as he was aware.

The question of a distinctive Canadian flag has been the subject of discussion in the House of Commons at different times for several years past.

Favorable Crop Report

All Crops In West Continue To Make Good Progress

Montreal, Que.—All crops in the prairie provinces continue to make good progress states the weekly crop report of the Bank of Montreal. During the last week, rains have been again general and as moisture is scarce, except in a few districts in Saskatchewan, warmer weather is now required.

Hail has occurred in some scattered districts of Saskatchewan and there has been some damage from wheat stem maggot and from grass-hoppers in Manitoba, but the areas affected are not large. Pasture and the hay crop generally are good.

Will Seek Loan

City Of Calgary Needs Money To Carry On Relief Expenditures

Calgary, Alberta.—The city of Calgary will seek a $1,000,000 loan from the Bank of Montreal immediately. It has been decided by city council. City finances were in dire need of bolstering. It was pointed out, and if the loan is obtained the city will be able to carry on its relief expenditures, aided by the promised $250,000 support from the Dominion Government.

At present the city is in debt to the bank to the amount of $1,700,000.

Chaplin Files Protest

Los Angeles.—Charlie Chaplin, listed on the county assessment roll as the richest man in Hollywood, possessing taxable securities worth $7,087,370, filed a protest with the county board of supervisors seeking to show his wealth was highly overrated. His lawyers said the comedian's securities were worth but $1,657,316 and asked for a re-assessment.

French Aviator Crashes

Lyons, France.—On the last lap of a 4,700 mile flight, Colonel Gillemeine was killed in a crash on the way from Venice to Le Bourget. Commandant Goslin, his companion, was fatally injured and died in a few minutes. They left Le Bourget July 1 and flew to Bucharest, Warsaw, Istanbul and Venice.

FASHIONS IN POLITICS

Cakewalk shirts for men are coming more and more into fashion. But the unwary must take care. By their shirts ye shall know them.

Let a man go to Italy, for instance, and sport a red shirt. Unusual, but not possible. He would immediately get into trouble, for that is the forbidden color of the Italian Republicans. But if he has it dyed black, then he is a loyal Fascist. A red shirt worn in the north of India would likewise cause a government official to view it with alarm. In other parts of India, he would find himself mixed up in strange doings if he hauled out that old khaki shirt of which his wife disapproves, for that has become the uniform of the Indian Nationalists. Brown shorts are now forbidden in Germany, because of the Hitlerites' fondness for that color. In Russia, they wear a grey shirt to show their loyalty to the Communist regime.

The latest color to be appropriated by a political party is green, which will be worn by the Irish Republicans; and in England Oliver Locker-Lampson has organized a blue-shirt movement to preserve the good old British traditions. This is not to be confused with the royal blue shirt worn by the Royalist party in France.

The unfortunate American white shirt will look pale among all this glorious raiment. Soon an international conference will look like a convention of jockeys—Canadian Canadian.

A Nordegger note in the Red Deer Advocate reads: Mrs. A. Cacciolini and family left on Thursday for Keweenaw, B.C., where they intend to take up farming.

The death occurred at Edmonton last week of Ludger (Louis) Trudel, age sixty years, head of the Trudel Fur Manufacturing Co., Limited. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, one son, two brothers and two sisters.

Turtle steak, one of the choicest dishes in the world, is served fresh and tender aboard C. N. West Indies liners, thanks to a system which has been reported a complete success. The turtles are taken aboard alive at Nassau, capital of the Bahamas, where they abound. The ship's chef and his staff kill the turtles as they are required. Reports show that turtle meat and turtle soup as served aboard the C.N.S. ships have given rise to a formerly absent demand for turtle products in Canada. One Bismarck firm is said to be considering the advisability of shipping canned turtle meat and soup for consumption in Canada.

Mr. Merchant, what would you cry if the Elixir called for tenders for a pound of butter, a loaf of bread or a pound of tea, seeking the lowest prices, as some business men do in the habit of doing in regard to printing? Or on the other hand, Mr. Butcher, Baker, or General Merchant, what would you say if peddlers were allowed to come, without license, and canvass from door to door with the product that you sell? Think it over before you send work to outside cities. In almost every case, anything you require, whether it be printing, clothing, shoes or groceries, can be bought right here at prices that will compare with those you will get anywhere.—Tweed (Ont.) News. The same is true of Crown's Nest Pastafornas. Think it over and keep every dollar possible right in motion at home.

In one of the best baseball games witnessed in this district for some time, the Blairmore Ford V-Eights defeated Cardston on Friday evening last by the small score of two to one, thereby retaining the coveted Insurance challenge cup. CONFLICT INEVITABLE

Major Schoot was telling us that it is the firm conviction of army and navy men in the States that there will be hostilities between the States and Japan in less than a year. And the situation is such that if such a condition should arise, the States would likely suffer terribly on the commencement of hostilities, through the lack of intensive preparation and equipment.

High ranking officers with whom he conversed were of the opinion that Japan would start in by taking the Philippine Islands, which she could accomplish within a three weeks' period. Then the entire west coast of the States would be for a time at the mercy of Japan's superior naval power and the large coastal cities would likely suffer heavy material losses and possibly military occupation.

Within three months the intensive industrial organization of the eastern part of the States could be mobilized to provide combative equipment and then the States could risk a part of her Atlantic naval protection and start in to clean up on the Japs and settle for some time to come their imperialistic ambitions.

We do not know how much there is to provide a background for such an opinion, but we do know that such a conflict would be unhealthy to Canada's coastal interests. A Japan that would attack the United States would not hesitate to blockade the British Columbia outlet if such action would strengthen her military position.—Clareholm Local Press.

The World Owes Much
To Advertisers

ALL OF US would be poorer if there were no advertisements in our newspapers—poorer in pocket, mind, comfort, culture.

Advertisements have been called the "Poor man's University," for they are wonderful teachers—wonderful mirrors of the world's scientific and cultural development.

It is advertisements which keep us informed about what is being accomplished by the world's best engineers, chemists, research workers and technicians, in every field of human endeavor—in the realms of radio, motor-car and tire manufacturing, food preparation, remedial preparations, domestic and personal hygiene, building materials and construction, and agricultural economy, home easements and beautification.

If there were no advertisements in our newspapers and magazines, we'd all slip back—back to the levels of life of 50 and 100 years ago. We'd read less, move about less, lower our living standards, to content with poorer machines, eat coarser foods and wear coarser clothing, live in unattractive homes, do a vast amount of distasteful labor, wear ill-fitting shoes, see ugliness everywhere, have more illness, meet with more accidents, have more toothaches; and our stores would be very dull places in deed.

To blot out advertisements would be like blotting out the sun—the source of light and energy.

Be grateful to advertisers, and show your gratitude by buying what they bring so faithfully to your attention—in this and other newspapers.

AND ALWAYS REMEMBER THAT ADVERTISERS ARE THE WORLD'S CIVILIZERS AND YOUR TRUE FRIENDS

Come and get 'em. That's the answer to the white whale question, so far as Churchill and the Hudson Bay region is concerned. There are tens of thousands of these greater porpoises in the Churchill river, the harbor and outer waters. Trappers take the whales without any trouble, by using a home-made harpoon made out of scrap metal. They go out in a canoe with a piece of board or an empty can for a float, harpoon the animal and leave the tin can or board attached as a mark which shows them the location of the whale when it is dead. Then they haul it ashore and cut it up for dog feed. People in these regions, however, are satisfied that something should be done to reduce the white whale population. They show that these large mammals do away with vast quantities of small fish that are of value.

A party of about two hundred Mormons from States points passed east through Blairmore by motor cars yesterday, enroute to attend a mission at Christon.

The marvels of modern civilization were presented last week for the first time to two families of Chipewyan Indians from far north of Lake du Brochet in Northern Saskatchewan, upon their arrival at The Pass after a 500-mile trip by canoe from their northern home. The two families were seated by the side of the railway tracks when the Canadian National Railway train prepared to pull out towards Churchill. They gazed with amusement at all the people crowded into the train, unable to comprehend the purpose of the train. When the engineer blew the first warning blast, and the train started to pull out, the families rushed helter-skelter away from the iron monster, the squaws quailing and screaming. The families are those of Magloire Bonanni and Francis Joze and came down on the long canoe trip to bring Magloire's wife to hospital at The Pass. The Indians paddled day and night in shifts to bring the sick woman to The Pass for medical attention.

MARGARET FEELES

"I see. Very well. I'll come to Okehampton by the three train tomorrow afternoon," repeating his instructions carefully.

"Right. That's all fixed, then."

"Quite. Mind you also fix a fine day—or night, rather! Goodbye."

A murmured farewell came back along the wire, and then Jean, replacing the receiver of his city, ran off to apprise Lady Anne of the arrangements made.

"Lady Anne looked up from some village charity accounts which were puckering her smooth brow to smiling approval."

"How nice, dear! Quite a charming plan—you'll enjoy it. Especially as we'll be nothing to amuse you here tomorrow. I have two village committees to attend—I'm in a chair, so I must go. And Blaise, I know, is booked for a busy day with the estate agent, while Nick is going down to South Devon somewhere for a day's fishing. I think he goes down tonight. Really, it's quite unusually lucky that Judith should have fixed a tomorrow for her moonlight party."

CHAPTER XXVI.

Moonlight On the Moor

The moonlight, warm with its subtle fragrance of gorse—the scent of peaches when the sun is shining on them—tonic with the faint tang of salt breeze by clean winds that had swept across the Atlantic, came to Jean's nostrils crackling and sparkling as a draught of golden wine.

Before her, mile after mile lay the white road—a sword of civilization cleaving its way remorselessly across the green wilderness of mossy turf, and on either side rose the swelling hills and jagged peaks of the great firs, meeting in the far distance into a vague, formless blur of purple that might be either cloud or tar as it merged at last into the dim haze of the horizon.

"Oh, blessed, blessed Moor!" exclaimed Jean. "How I love it! You know, half the people in the world haven't the least idea what Dartmoor is like. I was enthralled to a woman about it only the other day and she actually said, 'Oh, yes—Dartmoor. It's quite flat, I suppose, isn't it?'"

"Flat!"—with sweeping disgust.

Burke, his hand on the wheel of the big car which was eating up the miles with the facility of a bo-constructor swallowing rabbits, smiled at the indignant little sniff with which the speech was concluded.

"You don't like dead levels, then?" he suggested.

She shook her head.

"No, I like hills—something to look up to—to climb."

"Spiritual as well as temporal?" She was silent a moment.

"Why, yes, I think I do. He smiledardonally."

"It's just that terrible angelic tendency of yours I complain of. It's too much for any mere material man to live up to. I wish you'd step down to my low level occasionally. You don't seem to be afflicted with human passions like the rest of us"—he added, a note of irritation in his voice.

"Indeed I am!"

Jean spoke impulsively, out of the depths of that inner, almost unconscious self-knowledge which lies within each one of us, dormant until some lance-like question picks it in to spontaneous affirmation. She had hardly heeded whether the conversation was tending, and she regretted her frank confession the instant it had left her lips.

Burke turned and looked at her with a curious speculation in his glance.

"I wonder if that's true?" he said consideringly. "If so, they're still asleep. I'd get something to be the one to rouse them."

There was the familiar, half-turbulent quality in his voice—the sound as of something held in leash. Jean sensed the danger in the atmosphere.

"You'll rouse one of them—the quiet ordinary, commonplace one of old temper, if you talk like that," she replied prosaically. "You've got to play fair, Geoffrey—keep the spirit of the law as well as the letter."

"All's fair in love and war—as I told you before," he retorted.

"Geoffrey!" indignantly.

"Jean," mimicking her. "Well, we won't quarrel about it now. Here we are at our journey's end. Behold the carriage drive!"

The car swung round a sharp bend and then bumped its way up a roughly-made track which served to the "champion" of the moorland, constructed at one side of the bungalow, to the road along which they came.

The track cleaved its way, rather on the principle of a railway cutting, clear through the abrupt acclivity which flanked the road that, side and rising steeply between crumbling, overhanging banks, fringed with coarse grass and tufted with straggling patches of gorse and heather, debouched on to a broad plateau. Here the road below was completely hidden from view; on all sides there stretched only a limitless vista of wild moorland, devoid of any sign of habitation save for the bare, crepeless walls of the bungalow itself.

As the scene unfolded, Jean became conscious of a strange sense of familiarity. An inexplicable impression of having seen the place on some previous occasion, of familiarity with every detail of it—even to a recognition of its peculiar atmosphere of loneliness—took possession of her. Only she knew that it was associated in her mind with something disagreeable. Even now, as at Burke's dictation, she waited in the car while he entered the bungalow from the back, passing through in order to admit his guest by way of the front door, which had been secured upon the inside, she was aware of a feeling of intense repugnance.

"And then, in a flash, recollection returned to her. This was the house of her dream—the of the nightmare vision which had obsessed her during the hours of darkness following her first meeting with Geoffrey Burke."

There stood the solitary dwelling, set amid a wild and desolate country, and to one side of it grew three wretched-looking, scrubby little fir trees, all of them bent in the same direction by the keen winds as they came sweeping across the Moor from the wide Atlantic. Three Fir Bungalows! Why, the very name itself might have warned her!

Her eyes fixed themselves on the green-painted door. She knew quite well what must happen next. The door would open and reveal Burke standing on the threshold. She watched it with fascinated eyes.

Presently came the sound of steps, then the grating noise of a key turning stiffly in the lock. The door was flung open and Burke strode across the threshold and came to the side of the car to help her out. Jean waited, half terrified, for his first words. Would they be the words of her dream? She felt that if he chanced to say jokingly, "Will you come into my parlour?" she should scream.

"Go straight in, will you?" said Burke. "I'll just run the car round to the garage and then we might as well get tea ready before the others come. I'm starving, aren't you?"

The spell was broken. The everyday commonplace words brought with them a rush of overpowering relief, sweeping away the dreadful sense of unreality and terror, and as Jean nodded and responded gaily, "Absolutely famished," she could have laughed aloud at the ridiculous fears which had assailed her.

The inside of the bungalow was in charming contrast to its somewhat forbidding exterior. The living room, furnished very simply but with a shrewd eye to comfort, communicated one with the other by means of double doors which, usually left open, obviated the cramped feeling that the comparatively small size of the rooms might otherwise have produced, while the two lattice windows which each boasted were augmented by French windows opening out to a verandah which ran the whole length of the building.

Jean, having delightfully explored the front portion of the bungalow, joined Burke in the kitchen, guided thither by the clinking of crockery and the cheerful crackle of a hearth as he awakened into fresh life by the scientific application of a pair of bellows.

"I had no idea you were such a domesticated individual," she remarked, as she watched him carefully warming the brown earthenware teapot as a preliminary to brewing the tea while she busied herself making hot buttered toast.

"Oh, Judy and I are independent up here, I assure you," he answered with pardonable pride. "We never bring any of the servants from Willow Ferry, but cook for ourselves. A woman comes over every morning to do the housework, clean the place, and wash up the dishes from the day before, and so on. But beyond that we are self-sufficing."

"Where does your woman come from? I didn't see a house for miles round."

"You can't see the place, but there's a little farmstead, tucked away in a hollow about three miles from here, which provides us with cream and butter and eggs—and with our char-lady."

Jean surveyed with satisfaction a rapidly mounting pile of delicately browned toast, creaming with golden butter.

"There, that's ready," she announced at last. "I do hope Judy and Co. will arrive soon. Hot buttered toast spoils with keeping, it gets all sodden and tastes like underdone salmon."

"Do you think they'll be long?" Burke threw a glance at the grandfather's clock ticking solemnly away in a corner of the kitchen.

"It's half-past four," he said absently. "I don't think we'll risk that luscious-looking toast of yours by waiting for them. I'm going to brew the tea; the kettle's boiling."

"Won't Judith think it horrid of us not to wait?"

"Oh, Lord no! Judy and I never stand on any ceremony with each other. Any old thing might happen to delay them a bit."

Jean, frankly hungry after her spin in the car through the invigorating moorland air, yielded without further protest, and tea resolved itself into a jolly little "tete-a-tete" affair, partaken of in the shelter of the verandah, with the glorious vista of the Moor spread out before her delighted eyes.

Burke was in one of those rare moods of his which never failed to inspire her with a genuine liking for him when the usually turbulent devil within him, so hardly held in check was temporarily replaced by a certain spontaneous boyishness of a distinctly endearing quality—that "little boy" quality which, in a grown man, always appeals so irresistibly to any woman.

The time slipped away quickly, and it was with a shock of astonishment that Jean realized, on glancing down at the watch on her wrist, that over an hour and a half had gone by while they had been sitting chatting on the verandah.

Measure of Defense

Norway To Occupy Strip Of Greenland For Protection Purposes

The Norwegian Government has decided to occupy a strip of south-eastern Greenland, two miles wide, between latitudes 60 degrees 30 minutes and 60 degrees 40 minutes.

The occupation, said an official statement, is a measure of defence which Norway has been forced to take, Denmark having given police authority to its expeditions to east Greenland this year. The statement also said that in late years Danish authorities have tried to close west Greenland to foreigners and thus prevent whalers and fishermen working in the open sea from calling at Greenland ports for water.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelle

THE DOLE OF LOVE

The beggar cried: "A crumb, a crust! By weakness I am cured; My pride is humbled in dust, I hunger and I thirst!"

Then eager hands and gentle hands Reached forth to give him aid, This weary wretch from foreign lands, By life's strange turns betrayed.

It is so easy to be kind To those who do not know; It is so easy to be kind To near ones, dear ones' woe.

A stranger's mournful tale will move Us till the quick tear starts; But ah! the scanty dose of love We give to hungry hearts!

By love the spirit must be fed If it would grow and thrive; Love is the meat and drink and bread Which keeps the soul alive.

Salt placed in the water will preserve the freshness of flowers.

Little Helps For This Week

"My voice shall Thou hear in the morning, O Lord."—Psalm v. 3.

Lord, in Thy light, oh, let me walk this day.

By Thy love prompted, act, and speak, and pray.

As a new creature it becomes to do, Whose aim it is, in all his words and ways,

To set forth daily his Creator's praise.

And new in heart, in life he also new.

—Lyra Domestica.

From the night our spirit awakeneth unto Thee, O God! for Thy precepts are a light unto us. Teach us, O God, Thy righteousness, Thy commandments, and Thy judgments. Enlighten the eyes of our mind that we sleep not in sin unto death. Drive away all darkness from our hearts. Vouchsafe us the Sun of righteousness. Guard our life from all reproach by the seal of Thy Holy Spirit. Guide our steps in the way of peace. Grant us to behold the dawn and the day with joyfulness, that we may send up our prayers to Thee at eventide.—Thomas A. Kempis.

Market For Honey Could Be Extended

If People Used It For Other Meals Than Breakfast

If you want to know what the public think of honey, put it on the table before a group of representative people. If the meal be breakfast, the honey is likely to be a popular dish; if any other meal, it will probably be ignored. Recently a group of a dozen young ladies were observed at the evening meal. Honey was on the table, but not one of them touched it. The following morning, when a group of these same girls sat down to breakfast, every one of them ate honey. The public regards honey as a spread for cakes or bread for breakfast. Not one person in a dozen knows any other use for it. If honey is to find its proper place in the world's market, we must find ways to extend its use beyond a spread for breakfast cakes.

New Form Of Illumination

A new light has been invented which, it is said, may soon change the history of electric lighting. The illumination is produced by carbon dioxide gas, introduced into clear glass tubes under proper electric current, produces a steady white light having all the qualities of daylight.
